SEPARATE WITH STYLE

New Barn Door Hardware from Ageless Iron brings form and function to sliding doors.

(Denver, CO – March 18, 2020) Sliding barn doors are one of today's hottest interior design trends. They are popping up everywhere, from bedrooms and bathrooms to closets, living rooms and even kitchens. They transform something basic - an ordinary door - into a dramatic focal point that is both aesthetically pleasing and fully functional. They can also be used to create a sense of separation; adding a barn door can separate a space with style. Ageless Iron makes it easy to capture this rustic charm with their complete collection of sliding Barn Door Hardware.

This new Barn Door Hardware offers consistent performance, fantastic durability and long-lasting beauty. The collection includes an expertly engineered track crafted from heavy-duty powder coated steel for smooth operation and a choice of a grip or pull. The grip and flush pull are both meticulously crafted from cast iron and hand-finished by skilled artisans for unique surface textures. Each element can be purchased separately, and the grip and flush pull may be installed together on opposite sides of the door if desired.

Barn doors are a versatile and space-saving design feature that is equally at home in contemporary, traditional and rustic decors. The new Barn Door Hardware from Ageless Iron includes a single track, 1 pair of roller straps, 1 pair of door stops, 5 track spacers, 2 track protectors, a floor guide, all mounting hardware, and detailed installation instructions to ensure a perfect fit that will stand the test of time. It accommodates openings up to 34" wide and is applicable for single, interior doors 1 3/8" to 1 3/4" thick, 28" to 36" wide, and up to 300 lbs.

Ageless Iron hardware comes in a crisp black finish that complements many design styles and has been zinc plated and powder coated to last for decades. The brand is known for capturing the look and feel of solid bronze at an affordable price point, making Ageless Iron a smart choice for budget-savvy shoppers. All Ageless Iron hardware comes with a five-year warranty against mechanical and finish defects for added peace of mind.
